

Help Save the Cato Institute – It's Up to You

Whether you label yourself as a libertarian or not, I hope you consider the Cato Institute an important and valuable bastion of independent research and thought on the topics of freedom and self governance. Unfortunately today, Cato's independence is under attack by the Kochs. Unlike some, I do not vilify the Kochs. But they are simply wrong in this fight. If they win their legal battle to take over Cato, there will be no Cato left to take over. Cato's value sits firmly on its foundation of independent thought. Dependence on and control by the Koch political empire would destroy Cato. What are the Kochs thinking? Only they can say. But there is something you can do to help. Go to the Save Cato page and learn how you can join the fight.