As has been noted a few times in the last week since we began bombing Libya, launching another war "kinetic military action" without the approval of Congress, the anti-war movement that was so vocal during the run up to and during the Iraq War has been largely silent while the Obama Administration has taken on essentially the same foreign policy as his predecessor (oh, and Syria may be next).

David Boaz, vice president of the Cato Institute, recently visited with Judge Andrew Napolitano on Freedom Watch to discuss the absence of the anti-war movement and why they are largely sitting this president out:
