

Stossel, Cavuto, Napolitano and more FBNeers cover the State of the Union

By April MacIntyre Jan 24, 2011, 17:59 GMT

Stossel, Neil Cavuto, Judge Andrew Napolitano: The FBN crew post mortem's President Obama's State of the Union airs Tuesday January 25.

But will we hear from the ladies of FBN? Tracy Byrnes, Liz Claman, Dagen McDowell? We can only hope so. Please no Meme Roth visitations.

FOX Business Network (FBN) will provide live coverage of President Obama's State of the Union address and the Republican response beginning at 8:55 PM/ET on Tuesday, January 25th. The coverage, entitled Special Report: State of the Union, will be anchored by FBN's Neil Cavuto from the Newseum in Washington, DC.

Cavuto will be joined by FBN Washington correspondents Peter Barnes and Rich Edson, as well as a number of prominent economists, business executives and political experts to provide in-depth analysis on the address.

Following the coverage, FBN will present a special live edition of Stossel at 11 PM/ET, where host John Stossel will discuss the libertarian reaction to the event alongside Rep. Ron Paul (R-TX), Cato Institute's David Boaz, FBN's Judge Andrew Napolitano and a live studio audience. In addition, Stossel will give his own State of the Union speech.