

The website is a mess, but can Obamacare be cured?

October 24, 2013

Tech errors plague the Affordable Care Act marketplace website

Wendell Potter, a senior analyst from the Center for Public Integrity and a former Cigna executive, and Michael Cannon, the director of health policy studies at the Cato Institute, join Consider This host Antonio Mora to discuss the ongoing problems with implementation of the Affordable Care Act.

How did Rupert Murdoch build his media empire?

David Folkenflik, the author of "Murdoch's World: The Last of the Old Media Empires" and an NPR media correspondent, will join Antonio Mora to discuss the life of the Australian-born media mogul.

Roma in the United States

In the wake of the high-profile child custody case involving a Roma family in Greece, Antonio Mora will discuss the Romani-American experience with two guests of Roma descent. They are Ethel Brooks, an associate professor at Rutgers University, and Petra Gelbart, the co-founder of the Initiative for Romani Music at New York University.

A professional pilot addresses misconceptions about flying

Patrick Smith, a commercial airline pilot and the author of "Cockpit Confidential," will join Antonio Mora to dispel myths about air travel.