Who knew Maggie Gallagher's son was into 'Sodom'?

CORRECTION: The musical is called "Sodom" and not "Sodomy." We regret the error. But it's still queer as hell.

I, of course, mean "Sodom: The Musical"! Starring one of the Village People and the son of the biggest bigot in America, NOM president Maggie Gallagher. Who knew her kid was into show tunes? (Not that there's anything wrong with that. I mean, some of my best gay friends are into show tunes.)

Maggie spends so much time trying to destroy our families, it only seemed right to finally ask who she's got hidden in her family closet.

Speaking of which, now that Maggie is dragging her husband into her dirty work (you don't want to know) we never do see Maggie's husband. Why is that? Also, there are reports she doesn't wear her wedding ring. From America's number one defender of heterosexual marriage, no wedding ring, even though she's married? Fred Karger has more:

No one has ever seen your husband. You attend countless marriage events, chock full of married couples, celebrating marriage, yet you always, always show up alone.

I had the displeasure of attending your recent presentation at the CATO Institute in Washington, DC. I was amazed to see that you don't wear a wedding ring. No rings on any fingers. Where is your alleged husband? Why no ring?

Fair is fair. One kid does Broadway shows and the dad seems missing in action, along with Maggie's wedding ring. Doesn't feel very traditional family values.

Now that Maggie is using her family as a political prop hopefully she can clarify the status of her singing son and her missing husband.

So, these years of hate and hundreds of thousands of lives harmed are the toll of Maggie's acting out on maternal angst, instead of seeing a therapist willing to challenge her BS?! What a mutha!

If Miss Maggie is so concerned with "traditional" marriage, why the hell isn't she at home taking care of her husband, cooking and cleaning and washing his clothes and making her self available to his every whim, instead of running around all over the country with strange men?

Or did Mr. G figure out she makes more money flying all over the place spewing her hatred and hypocritical bigotry than he ever could working nine to five, and pimps her out to the hate groups? I mean she wouldn't be doing this unless he ordered her to, would she. I mean, I'm sure she vowed to "obey." Right?

No. Her son is much younger and looks a lot like Maggie.

 Ninong 8 hours ago in reply to Chicagotist

Which son are you talking about? She has two sons. Patrick Gallagher is her first son, the one she had as an unwed mother, which is why his last name is Gallagher. She has a younger son by her husband and that boy's name is Bair Srivastav.

It's her first son, Patrick, who is into show tunes, apparently. He's much older than her second son, Bair. You can check out Bair's photo on Facebook. I'm sure it's him. I can't imagine more than one person with that Sounds like someone is FABULOUS!

Seriously... this is one of her multi-racial children from the husband she wouldn't have been able to marry if traditional marriage was upheld in Loving v. Virginia.

How droll...

She also rejects the time-honored tradition of women taking their husband's name.

Like her devotion to the scriptures of the Bible, her devotion to tradition is a mile wide and an inch deep.

Ninong 7 hours ago in reply to clarknt67

The real reason she rejects taking her husband's name is because she was an unwed mother when she had her first son, Patrick Gallagher, and when she finally did get married to someone in 1993, his last name is Srivastav and none of her friends could pronounce it. Her second son's name is Bair Harshvardhan Srivastav.
