

The Christian Century
Thinking Critically. Living Faithfully.

CENTURY BLOG

Libya illusions

Mar 08, 2011 by David Heim

Neo-cons at the Weekly Standard like Bill Kristol, Republican leaders like Mitch McConnell and John McCain, and liberal interventionists such as John Kerry and Joe Lieberman are calling for the U.S. to impose a no-fly zone on Libya to help rebel forces remove the despotic ruler Muammar Gaddafi.

The interventionists are shrugging at the cautionary words of Secretary of Defense Robert Gates, who warns that establishing a no-fly zone is an act of war that "begins with an attack on Libya to destroy the air defenses." McCain assures us: Libya's "air assets are not large."

Establishing a no-fly zone would inevitably commit the U.S. to further military actions in Libya. Either that, or it would leave the U.S. having promised the rebels more than it can deliver-and thus end up botching the effort to align the U.S. with the anti-Gaddafi uprising.

The interventionists seem to have learned nothing from the failed interventions in Iraq and Afghanistan. They are still on the lookout for an easy victory in the Middle East. Gaddafi is a murderer and a terrorist, and his willingness to kill his own people is obscene. But this is not a problem that can be solved by the U.S. military. Some oldline conservative voices, such as the National Review and the Cato Institute, offer some of the most cogent arguments for nonintervention.

On the other hand, a no-fly zone that was coordinated with Europe and had the support of Arab leaders would be a different kind of engagement and might be worth trying. Apparently, that's not out of the question.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION

Log in or register to leave comments for them to be approved.

AUTHOR

David Heim

The Century executive editor is a writer on piety, Lutheran theology and the culture. He is also a pastor.

VIEW BY MONTH

- » March, 2011 (11)
- » February, 2011 (35)
- » January, 2011 (39)
- » December, 2010 (39)
- » November, 2010 (50)
- » October, 2010 (46)
- » September, 2010 (32)
- » August, 2010 (21)
- » July, 2010 (21)
- » June, 2010 (7)

View all »

RELATED ARTICLES

Link digest

Killing zone

Untruths

McCain rejects support for Hagee and Parsley

McCain's faith, pastor pigeonhole

SUPPORT THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY

The Century's work relies primarily on reader support and donations. Thank you for your support of journalism.

Subscribe

Donate

You can also support us by shopping at IndieBound.

© 2011. All rights reserved.