And Alex Cranberg, a Texas oil man who represents yet another rabbit-hole that goes every whichaway from his headquarters in Colorado.

It's hard to focus when you get down into the weeds. Incestuous? Yes. Secretive? Of course. Complicated? Intentionally so.

But you at least know that the whole "School Choice" bunch in this case is intimately tied with the Koch Machine, and, by simple and continual associations, with the old Crane Machine still being run, evidently, out of the Cato Institute.
