The Power Problem at New America Foundation

Posted by Michael Cohen

Chris Preble, a fellow at Cato Institute has a really interesting new book called the Power Problem about how US military dominance is not actually all its cracked up to be. It's a pretty provocative book and it explores the sort of questions about US foreign policy and national security policy that are all too rarely raised in Washington.

This coming Friday I'll be moderating a panel discussion at New America Foundation with Chris, my NAF colleague Michael Lind and Stimson Center Fellow Gordon Adams where we will be discussing Preble's book and whether our military dominance weakens rather than strengthens the United States.
