

THE HILL'S

BLOG BRIEFING ROOM

DAY'S END ROUNDUP

By Daniel Strauss - 03/23/11 04:49 PM ET

FROM THE BLOGS:Gadhafi's military: Trained and armed by Uncle SamJustin Elliot writes that the Libyan military is partially trained and armed by none other than the U.S.Screw your courage to the sticking-placeM.S. at Democracy in America argues that the claim that intervening in Libya was best described as a "battle of the sexes" of top White House officials is absurd.Where the poor people areMatthew Yglesias writes that if he were in charge of American foreign policy, he would constantly consider how the U.S. could help the poor in India.Allow More Latin American Students into the U.S.At the Cato Institute's Cato-at-Liberty blog, Juan Carlos Hidalgo wants the U.S. to let in more students from Latin America.OTHER NEWS SOURCES:*Dem lawmaker says Supreme Court may nix individual mandateRep. Anthony Weiner (D-N.Y.) thinks that the United States Supreme Court could rule the so-called individual mandate in the Obama administration's healthcare reform law unconstitutional, reports The Hill's Daniel Strauss.Rep. King: Military campaign in Libya ups risk of terror attackThe Hill's Russell Berman reports that the chairman of the House Homeland Security Committee believes the American military's involvement in enforcing a United Nations Security Council resolution for a no-fly zone in Libya increases the risk of a terrorist attack on American soil.

Source:

<http://thehill.com/blogs/blog-briefing-room/days-end-round-up/151591-days-end-roundup>

The contents of this site are © 2011 Capitol Hill Publishing Corp., a subsidiary of News Communications, Inc.