Cato Institute Launches National Ad Campaign Against Government-Run Healthcare

Posted by Amber Gunn - July 22, 2009

The Cato Institute just announced a national newspaper and radio ad campaign to stop the government takeover of the health care system. Later this week, the institute will run ads in the New York Times and several other major papers.

Cato has a new website dedicated to the subject, where individuals can learn details of the Democrats' proposal and alternative reforms that would preserve choice, competition and quality while increasing affordability.

Spread the word.
