

NATIONAL REVIEW ONLINE

The Corner

NRO Web Briefing

March 15, 2012 9:51 AM

At War: Fifty percent of Americans say the United States should speed up withdrawal of its troops from Afghanistan.

Malou Innocent and Robert Naiman: Stop treading water in Afghanistan.

Karl Rove: Obama's fundraising and enthusiasm gap.

Yaroslav Trofimov: Karzai calls for troop pullback.

Daniel Henninger: Obama the magician?

Gerald Russello: Would Obama's mandate fly with the Founding Fathers?

Steve Coll: What is 'Plan B' for Afghanistan?

John Merline: The U.S. has 60 times more oil than Obama claims.

Ed Morrissey: Stephen Chu's performance review way below expectations.

Msgr. Kevin T. McMahon, STD: Why we must not comply with the HHS mandate.

Jonathan Alter: Meet the new boss, Rahm Emanuel.

David Goldstein and David Lightman: Can Santorum take battle all the way to convention?

Kim Strassel: The Romney team pulls out all the stops to garner a win in Illinois.

Jim Morrill: GOP hopefuls turn attention to North Carolina.

Washington Post Editors: Boosting the economy through natural gas exports.

George Will: Union business, on the taxpayers' dime.

John Podhoretz: Primaries wearing down Republicans.

Jacob Sullum: Big donors are fueling democracy.