

The logo for Naples News, featuring the text "naplesnews.com" in a white, lowercase, sans-serif font. The text is set against a dark blue background that has a subtle, abstract pattern of light blue and white lines, resembling a map or a stylized landscape.

So many ignorant – so little time.

Council for Constitutional Principles

By Thomas Macchia

Posted February 19, 2012

It seems that people are so involved in what they believe that they can not understand the most simple reading of the first amendment.

The first thing that they do not understand is that having a creche at a school play does not establish a government.

now they do not understand what it is to "prohibit the free exercise of." means.

Perhaps they might learn something if they would attend a lecture on the Constitution.

Just to give you a flavor of what to expect if you attend the lecture at the Hilton Hotel., tomorrow night Monday the 20th. Below is a video of one of the speakers, and a member of our group, the Council for Constitutional principles.

The video outlines the problems in which the way our government is presently dealing with our Constitution.

Tomorrow night at the Hilton Hotel, at 7 PM Professor Andrew Joppa will outline some actions that could remedy this trend.

Our other speaker is the well-known Bob Leavy from the Cato Institute, who will post the subject from a different direction. The lecture is free and open to the public, it will be a great learning experience. There will be a short question and answer period after each speaker

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GVxqVTGDGy4>