

REAL CLEAR WORLD WEDNESDAY

Tribal Power or People Power in Mideast? - Tom Friedman, New York Times
Obama's Holbrooke Moment - Fouad Ajami, Wall Street Journal
Sarkozy's Misguided Quest for Glory - Arthur Goldhammer, Foreign Policy
Can Britain and France Run This War? - Con Coughlin, Daily Telegraph
How China Should Rule the World - Martin Wolf, Financial Times
Secretary Gates Sees Mideast Dangers - David Ignatius, Washington Post
Will Realists Listen to WikiLeaks on Iran? - James Kirchick, WAJ
Why Libya Is America's War Alone - Stephen Carter, The Daily Beast
At Last, Arabs Seize the Moment - Rami Khouri, Daily Star
The Arab League: Libya's Backseat Drivers - Claudia Rosett, NRO
Yemen May Be Next Regime to Fall - Daniel Green, Washington Institute
Understanding the Limits of American Power - Christopher Preble, WPR
China Endangering Ma's Presidency - Frank Ching, China Post
Why a Defeated Budget Helps Stephen Harper - John Ibbitson, Globe & Mail
Aristide's Back in Haiti ... Now What? - Michael Putney, Miami Herald
The Compass: U.S. Support for Libya Strikes Climbing | More
Follow RCW: In Your Inbox | On Twitter | On Facebook | Mobile