

REAL CLEAR POLITICS

JANUARY 31, 2012

MON TUE WED THU FRI

BEST OF THE BLOGS TUESDAY

It's Over for Gingrich - Richard Cohen, PostPartisan

Spending Restraint Would Go A Long Way - Daniel Mitchell, @Liberty

If Congress Does Nothing, Deficit Plummets - Ezra Klein, WonkBlog

Perennial Debt for Generations - Daniel Horowitz, RedState

Dismal Scientists Vs. Credulous Public - Timothy Noah, TNR

CBO Sets Record Straight on Federal Pay - Richwine & Sherk, The Foundry

Senate Moves Forward on STOCK Act - David Dayen, FDL

Still Time for a Better Egypt - Max Boot, Contentions

Afternoon Archive

Morning Edition

The Dissatisfied GOP Electorate - Ed Kilgore, Political Animal

Obama's Debt Reduction Promises Expire Again - Jim Geraghty, Campaign Spot

Looks Like U.S. Will Hit Debt Limit in 2012 - Brian Beutler, TPM

The Implausibilities of Panetta's Budget - Kori Schake, Shadow Gov't

Special Forces Will Be Weakened by Budget Cuts - Brian Slattery, The Foundry

Infrastructure Bills Fall Short - Pat Garofalo, ThinkProgress

How the Gov't Pay Scale Compares to Private Sector - Bruce McQuain, Q&O

Super Facts About Super PACs - Anthony Kammer, TAPPED

State & Local Austerity Triggers Tax Hikes - Matthew Yglesias, MoneyBox

Bishops Plan to Defy Obama on Contraception Mandate - Ed Morrissey, Hot Air

Morning Archive