Cato Constitution Day symposium Sept 17

By Nicholas Quinn Rosenkranz

September 13, 2014

On Wednesday, Sept. 17, the Cato Institute will host a symposium to celebrate Constitution Day. The program looks excellent, as usual.

Co-conspirator David Bernstein and I will be on a panel, along with Noel Francisco, and moderated by Roger Pilon, discussing federalism and separation of powers, 1 p.m.-2:15 p.m.

The B. Kenneth Simon lecture, 5 p.m.-6 p.m., also promises to be a highlight. One of my favorite judges, Hon. Diane Sykes, Circuit Judge, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, will speak about “Judicial Minimalism and its Limits.”

The entire schedule, as well as registration information, can be found here.

Nicholas Quinn Rosenkranz is a Professor of Law at Georgetown, a Senior Fellow in Constitutional Studies at the Cato Institute, and an occasional Broadway producer.
