Senators and House Members Graded on Spending Your Money

by texpat · 01/26/2010 7:51 am

The National Taxpayers' Union has released their report grading each and every member of Congress on their spending votes in the 110th Congress. Some of the results might surprise you. According to David Boaz, of the Cato Institute, 42 senators spent more tax dollars than the Socialist of Vermont, Bernie Sanders.

From the 2% rating of John Larson in Connecticut to Texas' Jeb Hensarling at 91% and Ron Paul at 96%, the truth is laid bare for the 2008 congressional session. The grade for Texas senators, Cornyn and Hutchison, left much to be desired, although, the dynamics of spending are somewhat different in the two chambers.
