What others are saying

"He said we must be fair today
Equal work means equal pay" That's right out of the "red" book."

There's nothing "red" about it. Can you give a logical reason why two people with equal experience doing the exact same job should be paid different just because one is a man and the other a woman?

Toilet Paper

If you want to save trees, hit advertising. Charge junk mail first class postage rates. Tax media advertising - more than half of my daily paper is advertising.

Cherry Tree Myth

My great great grandfather claimed he had the original hatchet that George Washington used to chop down that cherry tree. Only the handle had been changed 4 times and the head changed out twice.

songs

I can see singing songs about George Washington. He was a "great great man" Martin Luther King was a hero and accomplished a lot. Obama hasn't really done anything yet. He so far has just given a lot of speeches. I think he would be offended that the only great thing he did would be to be born half black. He hasn't earned a song yet. In America we praise deeds we don't worship a personality, at least that is the way it should be.

3, this is why many people are upset by that song.

Lyrics to Songs

Joyce, I wish i could remember those lyrics. It's been too long ago.

But i don't see any conservative then or now claiming that was indoctrination. Or crying foul because we sung songs about Washington and the cherry tree myth.

Recycled TP

Have you ever tried that Publix GreenWise TP? Worst stuff in the world. I won't use it even when they try to sell it for a penny. It's John Wayne TP--rough, tough, and won't take any carp off of anybody. Plus you have to use more of it--think of the GHGs consumed by the extra manufacturing, plus more H2O to flush it down.

Songs

Joyce, look up the lyrics to the Phil Ochs song 'Love Me I'm a Liberal'. If you don't remember it is pretty funny. Especially in these times. 'Outside Of A Small Circle Of Friends' is good too.

Miss that guy (Ochs that is)

Paul Krugman

Unfortunately, Obama and especially Bush had a great opportunity let this financial 'crisis' be a great teaching lesson on how capitalism SHOULD work. But instead the US taxpayer bailed out financial institutions that would have failed otherwise. Right now we'd be looking at a financial system rebuilding itself and creating opportunities for entrepreneurs to create wealth without the aide of government.

Songs

Don't remember singing any songs about Nixon (or Johnson or Kennedy for that matter). Although there was the opera 'Nixon In China'. That was much later thought.

The one song I remember was Phil Ochs (RIP) 'Love Me, I'm a Liberal'.

By Right Wing Nut

I've been trying to remember those supposed songs and couldn't. Course by Nixon I was already in college, buy could not for the life of me figure why anyone would have a song about him!!!

Hey 3, how bout giving us the lyrics to some of those songs????

Climate Change

Perhaps Senators Kerry and Boxer could answer this one simple question: "What IS the optimal temperature of the Earth?" Why are we drafting legislation to regulate carbon emissions in an attempt to bring worldwide temperatures down? Are they too high? What should they be?

Danes and their happiness

Check out the numbers from WHO.

http://www.who.int/mental_health/prevention/suicide_rates/en/

Danish men are a little more likely, and their women twice as likely, to commit suicide than the average American.

And it's worse for the men in Sweden, Germany, France, Austria, Poland, Finland, and a lot more.

Worst place for men appears to be Russia and it's satellites, former or not.

Denmark is 35th on the list for males. U.S.A. is 40th.

When it came to women, Denmark is 22nd, and U.S.A. is 46th.

So, Denmark is not Happy Land. No matter what you may hear on the View.

(Oddly, while men have it worst in former Soviet countries, women have it worst in Asian countries.)

(Granted, the countries with the least suicide rates are countries in denial and/or corrupt to the point their numbers are meaningless in use as comparisons.)

School Children Video

And so it continues. Conservatives, egged on by their masters in the conservative media, continue to cry "indoctrination" just because someone at a school mentions or sings about the President.

There was nothing sinister in the video, it was a part of Black History Month activities. The kids at one of our local schools were assigned to sing and write songs about Michael Jackson. Was this indoctrination. How about all the activities honoring Dr. Martin Luther King? Are they indoctrination?

I remember in school singing songs about George Washington and the cherry tree, which wasn't even true. Where was the conservatives then denouncing the schools teaching "lies". We sung songs about Lincoln and even about Richard Nixon who was President during that time. Was that indoctrination?

No this activity the conservatives are all worked up over is not indoctrination, not a part of a plot to recruit young people into some army. But rather a activity celebrating Black History Month acknowledging an African-American who has been elected to the Presidency. The conservatives just cannot deal with anyone or anything that does not share or participate in their irrational hatred of President Obama.

And conservatives wonder why ordinary people think they're kooks.

G-20 anarchists

Has anyone noticed that those people who claim themselves as anarchists protesting the G-20 stuff are the same people who vote for greater government? Anarchy and communism are polar opposites.

On the bombing that wasn't

Interesting...how many of these did we not hear about under Bush?

Is Obama going to try to (a) claim we live in a more dangerous time or (b) ignore it, as he has so far with the other arrests or (c) wonder why, after 9 months, they still are trying to kill us?

I'm guessing (d) claim credit for preventing all these attacks under his administration...
