

January 26, 2010

Categories: Blogs

Remainders: The union

First lady Michelle Obama addresses the Joint Armed Forces Officers Wives' luncheon, Tuesday, Jan. 26, 2010, at Bolling Air Force Base in Washington. (AP Photo/Manuel Balce Ceneta)

Health care probably won't budge (<http://www.politico.com/news/stories/0110/31988.html>) before SOTU.

No mention (http://www.politico.com/livepulse/0110/Senate_Dems_dont_talk_reform_at_weekly_luncheon.html) of it at the Senate Democrats' lunch.

Paul Begala begs (http://www.huffingtonpost.com/paul-begala/pass-the-senate-bill-plea_b_434700.html?alacarte=1) House Dems to pass the Senate version.

John Podesta says (http://tpmdc.talkingpointsmemo.com/2010/01/podesta-forget-the-house-health-cares-on-the-senate.php?utm_source=feedburner&utm_medium=feed&utm_campaign=Feed%3A+tpmelectioncentral+%28TPM+Election+Central%29) the Senate has to move first.

Andy Stern suggests (http://www.politico.com/livepulse/0110/Stern_Reconciliation_is_opportunity.html) doing it right with reconciliation.

White House solicits (<http://www.whitehouse.gov/blog/2010/01/25/state-union-20>) SOTU YouTube follow-ups.