NOTE: DO NOT MISS CATO INSTITUTE'S REPORT

(Food for Thought from Courage In America: Remember that, since we have been borrowing primarily from China, they have considerable control over the U.S. What will happen when the U.S. needs to borrow more money -- and no one will lend to us? The Chinese are concerned about the US dollar. And there is a movement underway to replace the US dollar as a reserve currency. There are many considerations -- worth taking some time to study and consider.)

(And don't miss China's reaction:)

BEIJING/WASHINGTON (Reuters) - China decried a U.S. decision to impose added duty on Chinese-made tires, saying the move sent a dangerous protectionist signal before a G20 summit and could stoke reactions impeding global recovery.
