

Weather: TORRANCE, CA | Now: 54°F | High: 69°F | Low: 47°F | 5-Day Forecast

Live Traffic 110N 110S 405N 405S 91E 91W

Search bar with "Search" button and radio buttons for "This Site" and "Web Search powered by YAHOO! SEARCH"

Home Delivery | E-Edition | Subscriber Services | Login | Newsletter | Alerts | RSS

Home News Sports Business Opinions Entertainment Life & Culture Info Classifieds Jobs Autos Homes Obituaries Business Directory

Ask About this Story: Have a question about something in this story? Ask it here and get answers from readers like you.

BOOKMARK, Print, Email, Font Resize

Ethics lapse isn't good for climate

Posted: 11/26/2009 05:58:22 PM PST

LISTEN TO STORY DOWNLOAD

More Podcasts

Presented By: Low-Cost Energy from Coal
Meet 3 real people

Most Views Most Comments

1. South Bay co-stars in black comedy about terrorism
2. Transsexual LA Times sports writer is dead at 52
3. Sailing of the City of Redondo into the sunset
4. Fraud, abuse in senior aid to be targeted
5. Fire damages North Torrance house; 1 occupant is injured
6. Christmas trees with many happy returns for South Bay residents
7. Uncertainty still swirls around use of medical marijuana
8. Actor Dennis Cole dead at 69
9. A girl has high hopes for high seas adventure
10. Lawyer heads back to Torrance court as defendant

Is global warming a fact, a theory or a frenzy of political correctness? The latest episode in this debate makes it harder to answer the question.

Computer hackers or leakers have filched thousands of e-mails and other documents out of systems used by researchers who believe that greenhouse gases generated by human activity are putting the planet at risk. The information confirms opponents' worst suspicions.

It looks like some researchers at the Climate Research Unit of the University of East Anglia have been cooking the books (suppressing data that inconveniently disagrees with their findings), and have tried to persuade scientific journals not to publish articles that take issue with their conclusions.

Skeptics of global warming are outraged at the news. One of them, Pat Michaels of the Cato Institute in Washington, who is mentioned unfavorably in the e-mails, said, "This is horrible. This is what everyone feared. It has become increasingly difficult for anyone who does not view global warming as an end-of-the-world issue to publish papers. This isn't questionable practice, this is unethical."

The e-mails and other documents, either leaked or stolen from East Anglia, were posted on a Russian server last week. The files specifically suggested that researchers were trying to exclude dissenting views from any reports issued by a U.N. group, the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.

Granted, most scientists agree that in the long term, the Earth's temperature is rising (although there have been cooling trends in recent years). But there are vocal critics of either the theory of warming or the idea that mankind contributes to it significantly. The costs of the effects of climate warming could be huge, especially in underdeveloped agricultural societies, and the costs of trying to do something about it could run into trillions of dollars.

Advertisement

Top Colon Cleansers 2009
Which Colon Cleansers Really Work? Lose Weight With Colon Cleansing. More info...

Washington Mom: Lose 47lbs Following 1 Rule
I Cut Down 47 lbs of Stomach Fat In A Month By Obeying This 1 Old Rule Get details...

Even in California, with its relatively mild climate, a lot is at stake, especially in coastal areas vulnerable to any rise in sea levels.

The timing of this scandal is awkward — or excellent, depending on your point of view.

A meeting of 192 nations to consider worldwide limits on greenhouse gases comes up in Copenhagen next month.

Questions/Answers

Questions and answers on Daily Breeze stories from readers like you. Submit your own question.

What should nonscientists make of all this? Even those of us who are dubious about the threats of global warming can be convinced to believe that it's time to move beyond the primitive and inefficient burning of fossil fuels to generate energy.

This is an opportunity, not a doomsday scenario.

And what should scientists make of it? No matter what their commitments may be to ideology or political correctness, they'd better keep their ethics in order. The last thing the world needs now is scientific evidence that isn't quite scientific.

BOOKMARK, Print, Email, Font Resize, Return to Top

Possible bank robbery in El Segundo?
by WrathOfTheTyrant | 1 Answer

What do I do if the same happens to me???
by avk | Be the first to answer

ASK THE LAWYER:
Getting interest on money owed - The Daily Breeze: Personal loan
by lgwexler | 4 Answers

Where exactly the clinic will be located? When they will start services?
by tony | 2 Answers

Swat in Torrance
by Terri | 2 Answers

More questions

Buy Stocks - \$4 Fee at ShareBuilder
No account or investment
www.sharebuilder.com

Super Cheap Car Insurance Quotes
Get Discount Auto Insurance Quotes Online - Rates from $15
USInsuranceOnline.com

Refinance Now at 4.25% Fixed
No hidden fees-4.4% APR! No obligation. Get 4 free quotes.
MortgageRefinance.LendGo.com

Ads by Yahoo!

Top Colon Cleansers 2009
Which Colon Cleansers Really Work? Lose Weight With Colon Cleansing. More info...

Washington Mom: Lose 47lbs Following 1 Rule
I Cut Down 47 lbs of Stomach Fat In A Month By Obeying This 1 Old Rule Get details...

Copyright Notice | Privacy Policy | Information | Subscriber Services | Site Map | RSS
  MNG Corporate Site Map

For more local Southern California News:

Copyright ©2008
Los Angeles Newspaper group