4/16/10 GOVERNMENT OUTRAGE - Ne...

Because liberals are famous for skewing issues to fit their argument. If they don't think conservatives criticized Bush then they either are purposely leaving it out of their puny minds or they weren't paying attention. Rush lambasted Bush on many issues as did Boortz, Hannity, Beck, O'Reilly, Coulter, Wilcow among others. But that's the difference between conservatives and liberals. Liberals are almost entirely lock step with the Democratic Party while a majority of conservatives make no bones about criticizing the GOP.

But the story here that caught my eye is the one where they issued a warrant for the arrest of a guy who owed 1 cent on a parking ticket. When h went to resolve the situation, they actually asked him if he wanted to pay on an installment. It could be that the clerk was kidding but still...

Why is it that liberals cling to this false notion that conservatives won't criticize George Bush? He's done plenty that I disagree with and I've heard a ton of criticism go his way from conservative channels. He spent money like a drunken sailor for the most part. That being said, I'd take him back any day over the current president, at least GWB wasn't trying to turn the country into socialist Europe.

Red Tape Rising

Of course, most people will conveniently ignore the heritage post that notes that most of the new regulations were imposed by their beloved George W. Bush, whom Cato also noted was the most regulation-happy President in American history.
