A must-read from the Wall Street Journal on ObamaCare and those lower insurance costs Democrats promised ...

A great column (aren't they all?) from Thomas Sowell. "Misusing History." Now why couldn't THIS man be the first black president?

The Cato Institute highlights a costly IRS mandate that was slipped into ObamaCare.

Weren't we promised that reform of Fannie and Freddie would be included in financial reform? Seems the Democrats must have skipped that part. Or maybe they are just waiting to pass the bill before we find out what's in it. Not sure.

The Editors of National Review have made their case against the Dodd financial reform bill.

Looks like Obama's Assistant Secretary of Energy is going to profit big time from any cap-and-trade legislation.

Frustrated with taxation, more Americans are giving up their citizenship and moving overseas.

Are Republicans "lying" in order to prove their points on Wall Street reform? You be the judge.

CEOs of various medical companies explain the true impact of ObamaCare: they will lose money, which means their employees, the consumers and ultimately the economy suffers.

The value-added tax is up for consideration by Obama's debt commission.

A Colorado Democrat says Arizona is on its way to becoming a "police state" and its new immigration law is "reminiscent" of Nazi Germany.

Leading up to the elections in November, can Democrats win by losing on climate AND immigration?

If we want to avert another crisis like this one ... we need to reform the Fed, Fannie Mae, and Freddie Mac.

Economists believe that the economic stimulus plan didn't do a darn thing to help our economy recover.

Maricopa County's Sheriff Joe Arpaio answers questions from the Today Show on "racial profiling" and "civil rights violations" in regards to the new illegal immigration bill.

Incumbents are struggling to keep their jobs. I love it. Make 'em work for it.

Somebody needs to bring Harry Reid back down to reality. Please.

Why is Justice Department refusing to allow its career attorneys to testify before civil rights commission?

Andrew Breitbart is still waiting for someone to claim his $100,000 if someone can produce a video or audio of protesters hurling racial slurs at members of congress.

When you are retiring from Congress, what else do you have to do other than spend your campaign cash?

Thomas Sowell

C'mon Neal...you know the answer to that! He doesn't play the victim card, doesn't play the race card, and he can't be a 'real brother' because he's a conservative. Remember 1996, when the Republicans expressed an interest in drafting Colin Powell? I'm sure some Repubs were in shock over that idea. I'm also sure a lot of Democrats and blacks were upset that he would even consider it. He didn't want to, can't blame him. But I remember him being called names like 'Uncle Tom' and 'not black enough'. That from the 'more tolerant' and 'more diverse' liberals. If Thomas Sowell ever wanted to run, I'd be happy to campaign for him. Because he's smart, honest, and likely to remember the Constitution instead of steering us further away from what we are supposed to be and closer to a 'Euro trash' socialist society. What more do we need from a leader?

Fannie and Freddie

Tonight on USA...the madcap misadventures of that whacky duo, Fannie and Freddie! How come the President doesn't call their CEO's and staff on the carpet? Why haven't those guys had to sit on Capitol Hill under the glare of tv cameras and endure the posturing and grandstanding by Congress? It's a rhetorical question, but it deserves an answer. Did they not have some roll in the runaway housing and mortgage crisis? Giving loans to people who couldn't qualify otherwise and then found they couldn't pay? No irresponsibility on their part? No bloated salaries? Didn't George Bush sound the alarm in 2005, warning against the free flow of loan dollars by mortgage lenders? Even Republicans didn't seem to want to plug the leaks on that lifeboat. What the hell, it's not their money. Instead, shame on those who would take away the right to be a homeowner from those nice people trying to live the American Dream! So they can't afford those houses, so they can't prove their income or even in some cases, citizenship! Lend, baby, lend! It's the American way! The taxpayers don't mind picking up the tab. That's what we work for! I don't need a future free of government funded retirement. My kids, they don't mind supporting my generation and our shortsighted, lousy policies and bad decisions. It's Change we can believe in!
