Reform immigration

I am a true conservative. Being one, I have followed many findings from the Cato Institute. A recent report from the institute states that immigration is a true engine of our economy.

According to their findings, reforming immigration will mean more support for the honest business. Comprehensive immigration reform will also raise wages and in turn open our economy to millions of new customers.

I urge support of a comprehensive immigration reform plan so that we can bring the undocumented into an economy that is transparent, taxable, productive and who will be better able to purchase our goods and services.
