

Utah State University – CATO Institute’s Robert Levy Discusses Second Amendment & Handgun Law

Posted on October 6, 2011

Utah State University – CATO Institute’s Robert Levy Discusses Second Amendment & Handgun Law

Students for Liberty at Utah State University invited Robert Levy to discuss our Second Amendment and its bearing on handgun laws in the United States. Especially relevant was Levy’s participation in the Supreme Court case of Heller v. DC, where the DC handgun ban was overturned. Levy discusses this and other key points in the ongoing battle to recover and continue to maintain (in some cases) our Second Amendment rights.

Cato Institute’s board of directors Chairman Robert Levy, co-counsel in the lawsuit that overturned Washington, D.C.’s handgun ban by the Supreme Court, spoke at USU about his role in handgun law as well as the importance of maintaining the Second Amendment.

Excellent article.