From Cato Institute's Constitution Day: Property Rights And The Supreme Court (Video)

We sure wish we could have attended the Cato Institute's recent Constitution Day program in Washington, D.C., but here's the next best thing, a video of the presentations on Property Rights, with a review of the recent Sackett and PPL Montana decisions by the Supreme Court, and an update about the state of property rights.

Speakers include our PLF colleague Damien Schiff, lawprof Jonathan Adler, and lawprof Ilya Somin.

We can't embed the video, but you can watch it here on CSPAN's site.
