Clinton, Trump And Icahn Just A Few Names On Hamptons Party's $47 Billion Guest List

By STEVEN BERTONI

Yesterday, I wrote that eight Forbes 400 members were in the Hamptons Saturday night attending a party thrown by the Jay Gatsby of pharmaceutical distributors, Stewart Rahr ($1.9 bn).

A source has sent Forbes some exclusive photos—even though the invitation said no cameras allowed. Apparently, billionaires relax just like the rest of us; only they wear nicer clothes, party at $45 million estates and dance to the real Lionel Richie instead of an iPod.

Here are the highlights of a guest list that had a combined net worth of more than $47 billion :

(I wonder if Bill Clinton and the ultra-right, David Koch (a director of the Cato Institute)—shared a few cocktails?)

Donald Trump ($2.0) and David Koch ($17.5 bn)

Stewart Rahr and Carl Icahn ($10.5 b)

Famous Attendees:

- President Bill Clinton
- Prince Albert of Monaco
- Donald Trump: ($2.0 bn)
- Steve Cohen: SAC Capital ($6.4 bn)
- Carl Icahn: Icahn Enterprises ($10.5 bn)
- David Koch: Koch Industries ($17.5 bn)
- Leon Black: Apollo Management ($2.5 bn)
- Sheldon Solow: Real estate ($1.7 bn)
- Richard LeFrak: Real Estate ($4.0 bn)
- LL Cool J

- Christie Brinkley
- Russel Simmons
- Ivanka Trump
- Lionel Richie (performed)
