

Local

Local Opinion Zone

[\[Print\]](#) [\[Email\]](#)
Share

National education standards: one small step forward, one giant leap back

By: Phil Brand

Special to The Examiner

07/12/10 10:50 AM EDT

National standards for K-12 education, in their latest iteration, are gaining traction with the somewhat misleadingly called “Common Core State Standards Initiative.” All the education analysts, experts and bloggers are weighing in on the educational merits and demerits of national standards. But the more troubling part of this new Initiative isn’t educational, but civic.

The Initiative is misleadingly called because states already set education standards; the new Initiative, while “state-led,” is a push for states all to adopt the same national standard (See the standard at the Initiative’s website). Adopting the new standard is “voluntary” for states, but that doesn’t mean the federal government isn’t prompting them with financial carrots and sticks. Consider the much talked about Race To The Top Initiative: The $4.35 billion fund was created with stimulus package money and will be awarded to states which adopt education policies the Obama administration deems worthy. States, of course, had to sign on to the Common Core State Standards Initiative to be eligible for Race To The Top money. Even the Initiative webpage acknowledges, “The federal government will have the opportunity to support states as they begin adopting the standards.” On top of that, writes Neil McCluskey of the Cato Institute, more federal strings will likely be attached to $14.5 billion in Elementary and Secondary Education Act money.

The civic problem with the Initiative is that public education is—constitutionally, historically and appropriately—the quintessential state and local government responsibility. Citizens have made education decisions in accordance with local circumstances, and as a result education has been a function of community. This is to the good. If, writes Russell Kirk, “the functions of community are transferred to distant political direction—why, real government by the consent of the governed gives way to a standardizing process hostile to freedom and human dignity.” The “narrowing uniformity and deadening egalitarianism” of radical centralization, Kirk continues, is not a praiseworthy substitute for the messy process of local governance and the freedom and variety which it engenders. Concerning national education standards, George will has recently written, “If we must continue the mistake of increasing federal supervision of primary and secondary education,” at least we should do it right and adopt them. Better, simply, not to advance the mistake.

More from Phil Brand

- National education standards: one small step forward, one giant leap back
- Grading the Schools Bailout: F
- Phill Brand: Sotomayor's race reversal

Follow The Examiner

Family trapped in Metro station elevator

If you thought the rail cars without air conditioning were bad ... An adult and four kids got stuck on a Metro elevator Monday for 40 minutes at the Cleveland Park...

—Kytja Weir

School Board member: New Clifton school unlikely

Fairfax County School Board member Martina Hone, at-large, said she doubts a new school will be built to replace Clifton Elementary. "I don't think that building a new school...

—Markham Heid

CRIME SWEEP: Sheehan trial starting, robbery arrest, declining demand for guns

TRIAL: Activist Cindy Sheehan's trial over a White House protest gets underway Monday. She was charged with crossing a police line. ARREST: Prince George's County...

—Emily Babay

More Capital Land posts...

National education standards: one small step forward, one giant leap back

National standards for K-12 education, in their latest iteration, are gaining traction with the somewhat misleadingly called “Common Core State Standards...

—Phil Brand

Waynesboro, Va, teacher killed by husband in murder-suicide ... confession left behind

In yet another twist in the somber Rockbridge, Va, murder-suicide case, authorities on Friday revealed that James Sullenberger, 63, shot and killed his wife Nancy...

—Lynn Mitchell

Thousands gather for bridge tourney in North Bethesda

Catty-corner from the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, in the cavernous conference rooms of the Marriott in North Bethesda, 4,000 people of all ages are gathering this week...

—Steve Kilar

More Local OpinionZone posts...

To view this site, you need to have Flash Player 8.0 or later installed. Click here to get the latest Flash player.

MOST POPULAR STORIES

- In South Carolina, Alvin Greene fever
- Republicans should embrace Paul Ryan's Road Map
- Gregory Kane: Lost in the LeBron James saga was the real news
- Obama economy sends Americans to their mattresses
- Obama is pro-growth \(of government\)
- The Rush Limbaugh challenge

Video: New Black Panthers grateful to Holder for 'payback time'

MEMO TO MILBANK: You're a head behind the facts on Arizona border decapitations \(UPDATED!\)

Morning Must Reads -- Democrats wonder when the good part of Obama's 2010 plan kicks in The GE-Obama affair, and Jeff Immelt's harsh words

GRANITECH
Granite & More

FREE HEATED FLOOR
with Bathroom remodeling project
703.550.7912

.submission { display: none; } .submission { display: none; }

Reader Comments

All comments on this page are subject to our Terms of Use and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Examiner or its staff. Comment box is limited to 200 words. Comments that advocate violence, racism, or libel as well as comments written in ALL CAPS are not permitted.

blog comments powered by Disqus

RSS | Twitter | Facebook | Intern | Video | Maps | Mobile | Contact Us | Terms of Use | Privacy Policy | Rack Locations | Advertise

Find this article at:

<http://www.washingtonexaminer.com/local/blogs/local-opinion-zone/National-education-standards-one-small-step-forward-one-giant-leap-back--98239474.html>

Check the box to include the list of links referenced in the article.

