

Sunday, 05 September 2010

"Overdose"

By Richard Spencer

text size

Comments \(5\)

Print

Share / Save

- Article

- Comments

Cato Institute scholar and author of Financial Fiasco, Johan Norberg, has created an informative and stylish documentary about "the next financial crisis" that deserves a wide audience. Much of what is discussed in the film won't be news to AltRight readers, but I was impressed by Norberg's unflinching look at the extent of the crisis: "The governments could save the banks, but who could save the governments."

Recommended Books

[Meltdown: A Free-Mar...
Thomas E. Woods Jr. \(Har...](#)

$18.45

[Financial Fiasco: How ...
Johan Norberg \(Hardcover...](#)

$14.93

Article Info

Published in: Malinvestments

Article topics:

- economic collapse
- finance
- economics

Richard Spencer

A former Assistant Editor at The American Conservative and Executive Editor at Taki's Magazine, Richard B. Spencer is the Founder and Executive Editor of AlternativeRight.com

Latest from Richard Spencer

- The Heretic
- HBD Chick \(Dis\)Abuses AltRight
- Ruling the Streets
- Was "Beat Whitey Night" Really About Race?
- Exporting Bailouts

Related items (by topic)

- Obamageddon
- How "It" Will Happen
- Dumping the Dollar
- The Ecstasy of Empire
- The Sublime Object of Ideology

