

FIND

Thursday, May 6, 2010

Key Account

Please Login to Your Key Account

Don't have your key yet?

Triangle Home

Features

Events

Locke Letter

Exclusives

Agenda 2008

Policy Reports

Spotlights

Carolina Journal

Carolina Journal Weekly Report

NC Transparency

JLF Blogs

The Locker Room

The Meck Deck

Piedmont Publius

Right Angles

Squall Lines

The Wild West

News Room

Press Releases

News Columns

About JLF

Sign Up

Advanced Search

About Us

Internship Program

Contact Us

Support Us

Site Info

Other Sites

Links

Carolina Journal Online

Charlotte

Piedmont Triad

Western NC

Wilmington

NC Education Alliance

The Pope Center for Higher Education

Center for Local Innovation

Environment NC

« MSM try making Times Square bomber a victim Just A Failure to Communicate? »

Raleigh Considers \$212 Million Transit Center

Posted May 5th, 2010 at 2:22 PM by Donna Martinez

Carolina Journal TV's Anthony Greco reports on the $212 million transit center that's being considered by Raleigh. View the story here.

Raleigh's city council is taking the first steps in a process to build an expansive new transit center. It's estimated to cost as much as $212 million and would be the new home for the city's and region's bus service, Greyhound depot and Amtrak station. Planners hope it eventually will house light rail and commuter rail services. Opponents say the building will waste valuable real estate and money that would be better spent on more popular forms of transportation.

Monday, May 10 at Noon, the John Locke Foundation will host a speech by an expert featured in Greco's story — Randal O'Toole of the Cato Institute. You're invited to hear him discuss Gridlock: Why We're Stuck in Traffic and What to Do About It. More information and registration information is here.

. You can follow any responses to this entry through the RSS 2.0 feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.

Leave a Reply

 Name

 Mail (will not be published)

 Website

Submit Comment