The patriotic song many radio stations deem "politically incorrect" is available at the website datehookup.com. Play it for yourself and see if you can figure out why anyone could be offended. It's 3:34 long and very good, completely inoffensive. There is nothing wrong with the song but plenty wrong with those who refuse to play it. The sensitivity squad controls everything.

> The mortgage fiasco could have been prevented. Guess who was a man ahead of his time (as usual) on this one : " In 2003, Ron Paul introduced a bill to end government subsidies to Fannie and Freddie. It had no cosponsors, and died in committee." - Jon Harrison in Liberty magazine October 2009 Two winners : Dr. Ron Paul and writer Jon Harrison. Jon Harrison writes every month in Liberty and Ron Paul has a taped message at 1-888-322-1414, toll-free, updated each week. I call the tape and subscribe to Liberty, a fine magazine. I avoid Time and News "Weak".

> A Pew Political IQ poll shows Republicans to be consistently more knowledgeable than Democrats. What a surprise. You can read it on TheAbsurdReport.com or weeklystandard.com (11-3-09) by UNIVERSITY of GEORGIA graduate Mary Katherine Ham. MKH says "It looks like conservatives do indeed live in a separate world from liberals - one occupied by 40 percent of the American electorate, where most people know what Tim Geithner's job is." Mary Katherine Ham adds "After all, if the polling had gone the other way, the NYT [New York Times] would shout it from the rooftops. I figure since you get told by the media you're crazy all the time, It's worth telling you polling confirms you are crazy - crazy like a fox."

> VDare writer Joe Guzzardi says the Hollywood Elite have a distorted view of the immigration disaster. Joe used to live across the street from Hollywood High School and says the only immigrants the elite know are the housekeeper, the pool man and the lawn guy. He grew tired of the deteriorating quality of life in his native California and moved to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania last year.

> Bumper sticker of the day, small lettering of necessity on this one : All I want is less to do More time to do it and more pay for not getting it done

> Good for Abby Johnson. Ms. Johnson, former Planned Parenthood Director in Bryan, Texas, quit after watching an ultrasound of an abortion procedure. Coalition for Life is located a few hundred feet from Planned Parenthood and Abby Johnson, age 29, now volunteers there. Big contributors to Planned Parenthood are ultra wealthy liberals Warren Buffett, Bill Gates and Ross Perot. You might have noticed that when Ross Perot was helping his pal Bill Clinton get elected president (twice), little or nothing was said in the lamestream media about his Planned Parenthood connections. He was portrayed as a conservative Republican, when in fact, he, Gates and Buffett are longtime liberal Democrats.

> I wish I'd seen this episode of pugilism at the Washington P- - newsrag. Feature editor Henry Allen, in his late sixties, allegedly started hitting writer Manuel Roig-Franza while quarreling over the quality of a story in the newsroom, reports Joe Coscarelli in mediaite.com. They're going down swinging at the money-losing P- - , a hideous example of a newspaper. Some companies deserve to go out of business.

> The socialized medicine under consideration is just to be applied to the little folks, not politicians, of course. Members of Congress have personal doctors on call around the clock. A doctor's office is located inside of Congress for everyday medical problems and taxpayer-funded elite care from five different plans of the politicians' choosing with no caps, no exemptions for pre-existing conditions, naturally. "One thing is certain : Congress will exempt itself from whatever lousy health care system it forces on us little people. Congress will get better insurance than you do because politicians always get a better deal under government-run health care." - Michael Cannon, director of health policy studies at the Cato Institute
