WASHINGTON - Congress passed landmark health care legislation that will affect most families in one way or another.

Many people who are uninsured will have to wait until 2014 to get coverage.

Details of how the plan are still being worked out.

The federal government has a site called HealthReform.gov dedicated to health care reform.

The Kaiser Family Foundation also has a 13-page summary of how you'll be affected.

You also can click here for some frequently asked questions and answers.

The CATO Institute also has information related to the issue.
